

"I am willing to let it go because it is better for me to have the good things in life than to hold on to the bad." - Shazia Imam

When you let go and forgive, it's the ultimate form of de-cluttering. And when you clear the space of the things you no longer want in your life, you make space for the things you do want in your life. All the good things you deeply desire.

